

ANJU Sahu

CHHATTISGARH

Anju Sahu has been living with her husband Prahlad Sahu and two children in Dhamtari district, Chhattisgarh since the last 22 years. Her husband is a teacher in a private school and gets a salary Rs 15,000 per month. It was too difficult for them to manage their expenses with the low income. They lived in a kuccha house where water dripped from the roof, the walls were shabby and doors and windows were broken. They faced a lot of hardships at the home. However, to save money, the family continued to stay in the kuccha house.

The couple came to know about Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (Urban) [PMAY (U)] through a camp organized by the local body. After learning about the Scheme and its benefits, Anju applied for it.

“My family was happy to hear that the house was approved for the construction. We constructed our dream home with dedication, courage and hard work. We express our gratitude to Hon'ble Prime Minister and the State Government to establish my dream home, which I never expected. Now we live comfortably in the new house,” Anju and Prahlad Sahu explains.

“We are very thankful for our new home and we wish that this Scheme continues so that all the needy people like us benefit from it. We are blessed that we have a pucca House,” he adds.
