

CHANDRAWATI

UTTAR PRADESH

Chandrawati lives with her husband Ramu Prajapati and their three children in Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh. Previously they were living in a rented house in the same colony. Her husband is a health worker and does not make much money. A major portion of the earning would go into paying rent.

Chandrawati, explains that as her husband works in a hospital a lot of their relatives stay in their house for medical treatment in the hospital nearby. The frequent visits of relatives irked the landlord and he had evicted them from the house. The embarrassment and constant harassment of house owners made her think that it is time to build their own house.

The limited resources and meager salary was not sufficient to build their house. It was at this time that they came to know about the PMAY (U) Scheme. It was the beginning of a beautiful journey, as they could see means to own a house, this meant freedom and pride. The couple borrowed money from relatives, put in their savings and built a house with all facilities.

“The pride in owning a house has to be experienced, no more harassing and interfering house owners. My house is always blessed with the relatives who stay with us during their treatment”.
